

varying from 12 to 25 miles per hour. The testimony also conflicted as to whether or not Greenlee had stopped his team. But after a full consideration of the evidence, the jury came to the conclusion that no one could be held guilty rendering a verdict to that effect.