

WINDOM, VIVIAN
1915-March 12, 1930

Grief again entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Windom when the Angel of Death bore away the spirit of their lovely little sixteen year old daughter, Vivian, after intense suffering from cerebro-spinal meningitis.

Death occurred Wednesday afternoon, March 12th, and funeral services were held on Friday afternoon. Interment was in the Wheatland cemetery.

Vivian was well named as she was the very spirit of life and vivacity; a girl who made only friends in all her short life, and was the very light and sunray in the home which is now so lonely without her cheer and happy quips, as is the school which she gave her whole-hearted loyalty, and the friends from every quarter to whom she was an inspiration for happiness. The lovely floral offerings but weakly portrayed the love and sympathy of the hosts of friends to her and the family.
